Trip Overview

Kali Gandaki River newest and wildest river situated 3 hours drive from Pokhara in one of the world deepest and most impressive canyons. From the first day at Kusma the rapids run thick and fast with little respite.

Gorgeous scenery on this remote river makes Kali Gandaki Rafting and kayaking trip a preferred among those looking for a short to medium length trip. We are rewarded with unique views of the Annapurna range; beautiful deserted beach camps, charming villages & a visit to an eerie, derelict palace.

The Kali Gandaki is one of the holiest river in Nepal but now is under threat for a Hydroelectric Dam which will destroy one of the best white water runs in Nepal. There are some options for the guests after implementation this rafting.

The Kali Gandaki rafting passes through narrow gorges, alongside tumbling waterfalls & jungle, traditional Magar & Chetri villages, whose inhabitants often venture down to the riverside to meet the rafters with traditional 'Namaste'.

4 days itinerary Kathmandu to Kathmandu can be shortened to 4 days Kathmandu to Pokhara to fit in with any trekking plans you may be planning around the Annapurna Range.

So, it is certainly worth to raft once on this river if you are truly looking for Nepal's most varied land escape with real wasteland knowledge. After rafting fly or drive back to Kathmandu or drive to the Chitwan National Park or trek to Annapurna Region.
